

Welcome to San Diego's Award Winning Food and Entertainment Website! Get great restaurant reviews, discover that special food find from the Farmers' Market, or find out what new culinary creations the local chefs are up to. San Diego Food Finds provides readers with a glimpse of delicious fare from Southern California and beyond. You'll find a comprehensive list of the most popular restaurants as well as a complete listing of current food and wine events. Plus, my Italian recipes!

Tuesday, April 10, 2012

Exciting new 'DinnerDate' company make its national launch in San Diego

DinnerDate is a small group dating service that's making San Diego restaurants the main ingredient for singles seeking new relationships.

Last year, Travel + Leisure ranked San Diego as one of America's best cities for foodies; just a year before that, it named the same city as one of America's most romantic. Both of these factors may have inspired Robert Earl, Founder and CEO of Planet Hollywood, to make "America's Finest City" the official launch place for DinnerDate™ (www.DinnerDate.com), his newest venture that pairs the business of food and dating.

DinnerDate is a fun and exciting modern approach to dating that brings the focus back to the dinner table where savory food, artful ambiance, and lively conversations come alive. As an innovative small group dating service that actively introduces like-minded singles OFF-line, DinnerDate encourages individuals to meet face-to-face over hosted group dinners at the city's top-rated restaurants. Singles can now step away from their computers and back into the real world — all while enjoying San Diego's top-rated restaurants!

Here's how it works: DinnerDate organizes a dinner for 6 to 12 like-minded singles at the city's best restaurants. Members, also known as DinnerDaters™, are invited to mix and mingle with a group of potential matches while dining on a tantalizing prix-fixed menu in a fun, safe, and social environment. One of the DinnerDaters will play the role of host to ensure the best possible interactions amongst everyone.

The inherent benefits of DinnerDate are many! The group dynamic helps to avoid the awkwardness associated with one-on-one dates; the “live” interactions ensures an end to online communication that often proves fruitless; and, because DinnerDaters don't see members' pictures prior to the event, the notion of romance is alive and well. DinnerDaters rest assured that everyone attending fits their specified criteria of interests, and at the end of the night, are guaranteed to go home with a smile on their lips — at least for the food!

It's easy (and free) to sign up; there's no monthly subscription fee. To attend any of DinnerDate's many events, members pay just $5 in addition to prepaying for the meal online. Frequency of participation is completely up to each member's whim. And, dinners can even be shared amongst single friends, who are encouraged to sign up as well. Once the dinner takes place, attendees are free to contact other attending members online, or simply in person while still at the dinner.

DinnerDate is exciting news for San Diego's singles, as well as the city's blossoming restaurant scene. The company will inevitably shed light on noteworthy restaurants from downtown to Hillcrest to North County and beyond. Some of the restaurants they already have commitments from include: Red Light District, The Melting Pot, La Jolla Strip Club, Bolillo, Red Pearl Kitchen, Sea Rocket, Whaling Bar, Café Sevilla, URBN North Park, Chianti, Mediterranean Room and Barrio Star to name a few. Now, dinners and dating in America's most romantic city is more enjoyable than ever before!

www.DinnerDate.com